HOWE'S

Patent Port Closers.

THE undersigned begs leave to call the attention of Masters and Owners of vessels, to his improved method of fastening and closing the ports of vessels. By use of these the difficulties of the old method are entirely obviated. They are easy of application, impossible to get out of order, galvanized to avoid rust, and a sure and strong fastening—and will last as long as the vessel will They can be applied in ten minutes, securing the port more perfectly than can be by the usual method in one hour, and avoiding all casualties occasioned by rotting of rope, &c.

THE COURSE OF THE CHOLERA The Paris correspondent of the New York Times writes under date of April 27th

A word about the cholera Within a few days, that is to say, since the advent of warm weather, the disease has broken out with a certain degree of violence at two points which interest you at New York—at the coast towns of Holland and in the interior of Brittany, between the French ports of Brest and St Nazaire

All winter and spring the disease has been making a few victims in the Dutch Province of Luxemburg and in the French Province of Brittany, and the great question has been what direction the epidemic would be likely to take when hot weather returned We now see that, from Luxemburg the disease has crossed the Rhine into Holland, and that in Brittany it is going back from rather than to the coast The disease has probably spent its force at Havre and Brest, as well as at Paris, and may not return to either of these cities But the choleraic influence may still be strong enough to develop the disease in overcrowded ships going from Havre and Brest, while it will hardly be strong enough to develop it on ships not overcrowded Thus the new steamer of the French line, the Napoleon III, and the Atlanta of the English Quaker Line, (the latter the vessel which carried cholera to New York last autumn,) left the port of Havre yesterday morning together at 8 o'clock, for New York, the first with but few passengers on board and the second crowded with emigrants The first will probably arrive with a clean health bill, but one cannot be so sure of the second

As regards the disease in Holland, it will probably spread to the Northern German States and to England But in England, as in Northern Germany, they are taking the right course in regard to the disease, they pay little attention to quarantine and a great deal to cleanliness More, during the last visitation of cholera than ever before, has it been observed, that the disease exercises its ravages almost exclusively on persons living filthily and who are deprived of the comforts of life The number of persons living otherwise who have died by the disease, is infinitely smaller than in any previous epidemic, and the disease thus no longer possesses any great terror for people living under good hygienic conditions.

A new city slaughter house has been erected at Bridgeport, near Chicago, intended for the entire slaughter work of the latter city. It is two hundred and seventy feet long, one hundred and seventy-five feet wide, and three stories high. It has a daily capacity for working off twelve hundred head of cattle, two thousand hogs and one thousand sheep.

New Publications.

From Messrs Bugbee & Co we receive the following

A THOUSAND A YEAR By Mrs E M. Bruce Published handsomely on tinted paper, by Lee & Shepard, Boston A beautifully written story, illustrative of the hardships, difficulties and heavy burdens under which many, we may say most of the ministers of the gospel in our country are obliged to labor through life, in consequence of the inadequate compensation received by them The author simply pleads for justice in this matter It does seem that when religious societies are established in places where comfort abounds, the people ought to support their minister comfortably or else do their own preaching

THE 'BRAVE OLD SALT,' or Life on the Quarter Deck, is an attractive story of the 'Great Rebellion, written more especially for the young by Oliver Optic,' the popular author of 'The Soldier Boy,' 'The Sailor Boy The Young Lieutenant,' and other thrilling stories of the war Published also by Lee & Shepard, Boston

LOVE'S CONFLICT By Florence Marryatt, (Mrs Ross Church) a daughter of the famous English novelist,—being her first work Her second, "Woman against Woman," is just out, and a third, 'Too Good for Him,' is in press The works are among the best in the line of fiction, and she at once takes place as a successful novelist The edition we have received is Loring's Railway Edition (Boston)

SIX LECTURES ON AGRICULTURE Delivered at the Experimental Farm at Vincennes By M George Ville, Professor of Vegetable Physiology, Paris Published at Boston by Geo C Rand & Avery Copies sent by mail for 50 cents The work talks about "High Farming without Manure"

From J W Bartlett we receive the Fourth Part, and the last, of that inimitable burlesque book of chronicles, 'THE NEW GOSPEL OF PEACE,' by 'St Benjamin Published in New York by the American News Company Everybody reads this inimitable history of Unculpsalm's war against rebellion

From E F Duren, an interesting chronicle of the old Puritan times, 1620 to 1621, entitled FAITH WHITE'S LETTER BOOK" hand-omely published and illustrated, by Henry Hoyt, Boston

TEA—A CHINESE SECRET Recently a gentleman notified the Board of Health that a person in East Twenty ninth street was extensively engaged in the manufacture of wheat-bran tea, and in buying up damaged cargoes, and after cleansing the tea, coloring it with Paris green The Board's inspector for the Fifth District thereupon visited the place against which complaint had been entered and the following extract from his report, which was presented at the meeting of the Board of Health shows the result of his investigations

Henry Joseph Jameson's business is that of buying tea damaged by shipwreck and by water at fires After submitting it to a process by which it is deprived of its damaged appearance he puts it into the market The damaged tea is first placed in a cistern of cold water where it is allowed to remain several hours so that the saltish or other foreign taste which it may have acquired may be removed it is then dried and sifted the coloring matter is then added and the tea removed to a revolving barrel, where the color is thoroughly mixed The tea is then moistened and dried and sent to market The proprietor informed me that he paid a Chinaman one thousand dollars for the secret of coloring, and he declined to impart the secret unless peremptorily ordered to do so He assured me, however, that no poison is employed in the process, and invited the most rigid tests I took specimens and tested them, with the following result The coloring matter, tested for copper, yielded none Marsh's test yielded no trace of arsenic It is composed of sulphate of lime mixed with some organic substance and a small amount of iron, probably an impurity of the gypsum The tea marked "colored," digested in water and tested for copper, yielded none The filtered liquid had a distinct blue tint, probably imparted to it by the solution of the organic matter Tested for chloride of sodium, only traces of it were discovered Some green tea from a respectable up town grocery, submitted to similar test, yielded both sulphate and carbonate of lime In these investigations, I had the services of Dr Arthur Duberceau, formerly assistant to Professor Doremus in New York Medical College Concerning the accusation of using Paris green or other mineral poisons in the coloring of his tea, it is my opinion that the man Jameson is entirely innocent

LIVING BY FAITH Very many will remember the volume entitled Muller's Life of Trust, in which an account was given of the wonderful manner in which the author had been enabled to carry on a large charitable enterprise upon contributions which came to him in direct answer to prayer, without personal application to any one for assistance A writer in the The Boston Recorder gives an interesting account of a visit to Mr Muller's establishment at Ashley Dunn, near the city of Bristol, England—There are three houses, containing about 1100 orphans, and arrangements are making for the erection of more edifices, so as to accommodate 2000 In his last report for 1865 Mr Muller says: "Without any one having been personally applied to for anything by me, the sum of £212,872 12s 9d (or $1,064,360) have been given to me for the orphans, as the result of prayer to God, since the commencement of the work"

An election is to be held in West Virginia on the 24th of this month, in which a vote is to be taken on an amendment to the State Constitution to exclude rebels from citizenship and from suffrage, unless they shall have volunteered into the military or naval service of the United States.

Congressional Convention.

The Union Voters of the IVth Congressional District, (composed of the Counties of Penobscot, Piscataquis and Aroostook), are requested to assemble, by their delegates, at the

CITY HALL IN BANGOR,

On Wednesday the 20th day of June next, at 11 o'clock A. M., for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Representative for said District to the XLth Congress of the United States, and for transacting such other business as may properly come before said Convention.

Every Town and Plantation is entitled to one delegate; each town that in 1864 cast 50 votes for Gov. Cony, to two delegates; and for every additional 50 votes an additional delegate, and for each fraction of 25 or more votes another delegate.

THE RIGHT OF CONGRESS TO DETERMINE. The Providence Journal says: Fourteen months ago, if one had argued that Congress should have nothing to say about the conditions on which the rebel States should be permitted to resume their old relations with the Union, hardly one of the loyal Democratic journals would have ventured to sustain him. They might have differed from the majority of the members of Congress respecting the course which that legislative body ought to pursue. But it would not have occurred to them that Congress had nothing to say or to do about the method of reconstruction. Mr. Lincoln, in his remarks on the subject, repeatedly recognized the authority of Congress to deal with the matter. And Mr. Seward, as late as the date of his letter of instructions to the Provisional Governor of Florida, also acknowledged that authority. Scarcely any one in the north questioned, until within a few months that it was for Congress to fix the terms of the readmission of the rebel States to their old positions. Yet step by step the Democrats and a portion of the Republicans have been led by the President to the ground they now occupy, that at once, on the return of peace, the rebel States became entitled to all their old rights and privileges, and among others to immediate representation in Congress. But if so, then they were entitled to this right on the surrender of Lee and Johnston. Suppose the proposition had then been made to have elections all through the south, to permit all to rebels to vote, and admit some at least of the members, who should be elected, to Congress. Would not loyal Democrats as well as Republicans, have opened their eyes in astonishment and called the proposition mad or ridiculous? Yet it is manifest that the southern people were then in quite as loyal a frame of mind as they are now. There is one question which these men who argue that the States resumed all their rights on the cessation of hostilities, do not answer. By what right on their theory did the President appoint Provisional Governors, order an election, and specify who should vote? Was not this, if we accept their doctrine, a culpable infringement of State rights? They say that South Carolina, as soon as the rebel armies surrendered, returned to exactly the same status as Massachusetts. But how happens it that he can interfere to such an extent in the affairs of the former State and yet not in those of the latter? Does not this simple fact show to every one that the States were not in exactly the same relation to the general government, and were not so regarded by the President himself? They have placed themselves in an anomalous condition. They had voluntarily suspended their practical relations with the Union. And is it not for the people of that Union, speaking through Congress, to say when and how they shall be permitted to resume those relations, so as not to endanger the peace and safety of the country?

THE MEMPHIS RIOTS. The Evening Post objects—as we trust no other professedly Republican journal has done or will do—to the sending by Congress of a committee to investigate the late murderous riots at Memphis. It asks—

"What is a riot in Memphis or New York to Congress? Suppose the committee ascertain, as they probably will, that a great outrage has been committed on the colored people, and that the proceedings were utterly lawless and inexcusable. What then? What can Congress do about it? Can it punish the rioters? Can it do anything but report?—except, indeed, discuss the report?"

The Tribune says Congress can ascertain by this investigation, 1. Whether the riot was or was not premeditated. 2. Whether it was wholly or partly incited by White hatred of "free niggers." 3. Whether it was or was not especially envenomed against those Blacks who served in the Union armies. 4. Whether others than ex-Rebels took part in it against the Blacks. 5. Whether the municipal authorities and their police really tried to protect the innocent victims. 6. Whether they have, even yet, made any earnest efforts to bring the guilty to justice. 7. Whether there is a public sentiment in the South that will demand and enforce the protection of Blacks from similar outrages in future. 8. Whether any, and, if any, what, further legislation by Congress it necessary to protect the Blacks from butchery and rapine. 9. What was the animus of the burning of the colored schools and churches.—10. What can and should be done to encourage and protect those who are trying to secure to the Blacks the blessings of Education.

THE CONNECTICUT SENATORSHIP. The movement in Connecticut by which, as in New Jersey, it is sought to defeat the election of the regularly nominated and "radical" Republican nominee for U. S. Senator, and work in a "Johnson man" by a coalition between the copperheads and two or three Johnson State Senators, is referred to by the Lewiston Journal as below. We may mention that when Gen. Ferry was nominated by the Republican caucus, the Bangor Democrat howled out that this was a defeat of the radical candidate Foster, and a victory of the conservative and democratic element. It now appears to have been the reverse.—Gen. Ferry has been always known as a firm opposer of President Johnson's policy, and a supporter of Congress.

This seems to be an attempt to carry out the programme mapped out in a letter from New Haven, published in the New York Times, the previous day, in which it was said that Foster would yet be elected by the combined vote of the democrats and his special friends. The Times says that Foster now declares himself a supporter of Johnson's policy—a fact which he sedulously concealed before the nomination, but a suspicion of which caused his defeat. The democrats have nominated a candidate of their own, but are ready to unite on Foster as soon as enough renegade republicans are secured to make a majority with their aid.

This is another illustration of the importance of selecting men for responsible positions who have a record which inspires confidence. The Union party is threatened with destruction by the treason of half converted men elected to office, commencing with the present occupant of the Presidential chair and descending to Senators, Representatives to Congress and members of the State Legislature.

Semmes, the rebel pirate, is out in support of President Johnson's policy of reconstruction. The great difference between Mr. Johnson, and those that are so glibly termed radicals, is simply that he calls every man "loyal" who is ready to swallow any oath required. Others do not see it in that light, but desire with the oath, to see fruits that may abound to the account of freedom.

—[Machias Republican.

Semmes, we see, has since been elected Judge of Probate of Mobile, by the rebels, in reward for having wantonly destroyed several millions of dollars worth of northern shipping. The President says, however, in an order to Gen. Wood that he must not exercise the duties of the office while he remains unpardoned. How long will that be?

A PARODY.

I.
Butchers are rampant,
Jews are triumphant,
A measly ham and a watchful eye—
Stalls are forsaken,
Wise heads are shaken,
What can the porkers do but die?

II.
Men will not buy them,
Wives will not fry them,
City and countrymen pass them by;
Hams have no pickle,
Ribs have no tickle,
What can the porkers do but die?

III.
Pig days were jolly,
Oh, for their folly—
A brimming trough and an easy sty—
Pigs may be silly,
But, hamless and chilly,
What can the porkers do but die?

IV.
Buyers are scanty,
Sellers are plenty,
If one is taken we all know why:
None but "dirt-eaters"
Can swallow the "creturs,"
What can the porkers do but die?

An Effectual Worm Medicine.

BROWN'S VERMIFUGE COMFITS,

OR WORM LOZENGES. Much sickness, undoubtedly, with children and adults, attributed to other causes, is occasioned by worms. The "VERMIFUGE COMFITS," although effectual in destroying worms, can do no possible injury to the most delicate child.—This valuable combination has been successfully used by physicians, and found to be safe and sure in eradicating worms, so hurtful to children.

CHILDREN HAVING WORMS require immediate attention, as neglect of the trouble often causes prolonged sickness.

SYMPTOMS OF WORMS IN CHILDREN are often overlooked. Worms in the stomach and bowels cause irritation, which can be removed only by the use of a sure remedy. The combination of ingredients used in making Brown's "Vermifuge Comfits" is such as to give the best possible effect with safety.

An Invaluable Spring Medicine.

DR. J. W. POLAND'S HUMOR DOCTOR.

This excellent medicinal remedy was first prepared by Dr. P. in 1847, and was then employed with great success in expelling humors from the blood; but in 1849, a medical friend, who was quite celebrated as a physician, especially in the treatment of humors, suggested some important improvements, which were adopted, and which have made it (so the people say,) the very best remedy for all kinds of humors known to "the faculty." This preparation is composed wholly of vegetables, among which are Sarsaparilla, Yellow Dock, Burdock, Noble Pine, Mandrake, Senna and Bloodroot. Suffice it to say, the "Doctor" is used in hundreds of families as a general medicine. Unlike many other popular remedies it is very grateful to the taste.

Cholera DISARMED!

The Chief Causes of Pestilence Destroyed!

DR. E. COURTARET'S DISINFECTING FLUIDS. Secured by Letters Patent in the United States and France. Prepared solely by the New York Disinfecting Company, at their Laboratory, Nos. 298, 300, and 302 Henry Street, N. Y. Office, 42 Cedar Street.

This Company, organized on a permanent basis, with Dr. Courtaret, the celebrated French Chemist, in charge of its Laboratory, is prepared to furnish its DISINFECTING FLUIDS for sick rooms, nurseries, urinals, water closets, privies, cesspools, sewers, gutters, ships, railroads, hospitals, prisons, and public institutions of all kinds, slaughter-houses, offal and fat-boiling establishments; all kinds of manures (immensely increasing the value of the latter to every farmer), and wherever poisonous and offensive gases exist. These agents are deodorizers, antiseptics, antiputrescents, and disinfectants in the scientific meaning of the words. They remove noxious gases and odors by chemical principles—leaving in their places healthful air; they are DESTROYERS, and not merely absorbents of poisonous gases—not injurious to utensils in which they are used.—The attention of medical and scientific men is directed to these disinfectants. Attached, are testimonials in favor of this great discovery, which, with hundreds of others can be seen at the Company's office.

DELAVAN HOUSE, ALBANY, March 30, 1866.

To the President of the New York Disinfecting Company:

Dear Sir: It is all it is represented to be. We have made many trials of disinfectants but now consider that we have found an article which surpasses all others as a remedy against all bad odors. T. ROESSEL & Co.

NEW YORK, April 9, 1866.

To the President of the New York Disinfecting Company:

Dear Sir: We pronounce it without exception to be the best we have ever known. Its effect upon every matter is complete and instantaneous. C. A. STETSON, Astor House.

☞ N. B.—These Disinfectants are used by the scavengers, under the direction of the Sanitary Police of the Metropolitan Health Department, New York. POWELL & THOMPSON, 42 Cedar St., N. Y.,

Discharge of Fifty Incompetent Treasury Clerks.

SPEECH of SENATOR DOOLITTLE, OF WIS.

A Brutal Murder in Poughkeepsie, New York.

Depressing Accounts from the Southern Cotton Crop.

NEW YORK, May 19.

Special despatches from Washington state that the revenue tax bill will be passed by the House before the close of the next week, and that the tariff bill will follow it.

The Senate will reject all appointments of conservative republicans, even when they have served in the army or navy, in place of present office holders.

Several appointments have been made in Massachusetts, but they will not be confirmed.

WASHINGTON, May 19.

It is stated on the authority of Jas. Ryan, ex-District Fenian Centre, that the item published in distant newspapers that all the Fenian circles in this city had endorsed Jas. Stevens, is utterly untrue, the Roberts-Sweeny circles had nothing whatever to do in the matter.

Gen'l Grant has received a despatch from General Halleck in California, in which he says there is not a word of truth in the report that Fort Goodwin had been captured by the Apaches, and the garrison massacred. He denounces the report as altogether sensational.

WASHINGTON May 20.

Reports from various departments show that there are 7 clerks in the Attorney General's, none of whom were in the army. Of 40 in the Navy Department 20 were in the late war; of 630 clerks in the employ of the Secretary of the Interior 186 served in the war; of 160 male clerks, employed by the Postmaster General 39 served in the army; of 19 in the State Department 11 served in the army. None have served in the rebel army. There is no report from the War and Treasury Secretaries.

PHILADELPHIA, May 19.

The Academy of Music was crowded to-night to its fullest extent by an enthusiastic audience of ladies and gentlemen to listen to speeches by Senators Cowan and Doolittle, in support of President Johnson.

Henry Simons occupied the chair.

Senator Doolittle, after treating the subject of rebellion and the present issue before the country, declared that the man who defies the Union of the States under the Constitution is himself a disunionist. He refuted the many calumnies that had been cast against him, against the personal character of the President, and expressed his firm belief that no man living was more assiduously and conscientiously engaged in the discharge of his duty to his country than Andrew Johnson. He illustrated the policy of President Lincoln in the recommendation of Louisiana and Arkansas to admission into the Union, to show that President Johnson's policy was not a new one.

Senator Cowan followed in a very able vindication of the President's policy.

NEW YORK, May 20.

Brig Emma, at port of Spain, Trinidad, from Philadelphia, reports picked up at sea an open boat, Capt. Cullen and five seamen, of bark Kathleen, which vessel was abandoned in a sinking condition. The Kathleen was from Liverpool for Galveston. Another boat containing four men is yet missing.

Orders have been received at Port of Spain from the British Government prohibiting Spanish, Peruvian or Chilian vessels or privateers from rendezvousing in any ports of the British colonies.

NEW YORK, May 20.

The total disbursements by the Treasury Department last week was $1,456,891.

Fifty clerks were turned away from the Treasury Department for incompetency and now lack employment.

A great fright was caused at St. George, Bermuda, by mistaking a French war vessel for the advance ship of the Fenian fleet. A council of war was held, and it was determined to strengthen the fortifications.

The alleged Confederate steamship Corsicette, seized at Baltimore, has been ordered to Boston for adjudication.

NEW YORK, May 19.

There have been no new cases of cholera since last report.

FRANKLIN, Pa., May 19.

The charred remains of one of the missing girls has been found in the ruins of the Grant House. The body of another is known to be beneath the ruins. Their names are James Dawson and Bridget Kelley. The body recovered is too much charred to be recognized.

SAVANNAH, Ga., May 19.

Generals Steadman and Fullerton had an interview with the African Methodist Episcopal Conference to-day. The information elicited was of a satisfactory character. There was a general concurrence in the opinion that the relations between the two races are friendly and rapidly improving in the States of Georgia, Florida, North and South Carolina.

General Steadman and party left for Augusta to-night, and will make investigations on plantations along the river.

Heavy rains in Texas have made the prospects of the cotton crop look bad.

The internal revenue assessments in this city for the past year amount to $4,487,000. Increase over the previous year, $3,147,000.

NEW YORK, May 20.

The U. S. gunboat from Eastport, Maine, arrived here to-day.

NEW YORK, May 20.

Sutler W. Shear, aged 16, the confidential clerk of Badeau, Lockwood & Co., Washington St., has been arrested on the charge of robbing his employers of nearly $8000. He was about to leave for Europe on the Napoleon Third, accompanied by a Miss Josephine Stanley of Hartford, Conn.

AUGUSTA, Ga., May 20.

Newspaper accounts from Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, Florida and the Carolinas represent the growing crop of cotton as seriously impaired by cold weather, heavy rains and overflow of cotton lands, and stands bad. Defective seed in a great measure is the cause of the failure. The growing cotton looks pale and sickly, and planters in consequence feel despondent. Not more than a third of a crop will be realized, as the planters throughout the country are ploughing up the bad stands and planting corn. It is estimated the crop cannot exceed one and a half million bales.

FORTRESS MONROE, May 18.

The health of Jeff. Davis is now reported to be improving. A weekly report of his health is made by the post surgeon, to the Washington authorities. He daily walks three times around the parapet of the fortress; he is allowed an abundance of liquors, cigars, and many little luxuries are extended to him through courtesy of the officers of the garrison. Mrs. Davis is allowed uninterrupted access to his cell at certain hours of the day.

Thirty-Ninth Congress.

FIRST SESSION.

WASHINGTON, May 10.

HOUSE.

Reports from the Secretary of the Navy and Interior and Postmaster General were sent in by the President in response to the resolutions as to whether the clerks employed were rebels. Laid on the table.

The President's annual message was taken up.

Mr. Morris addressed the House.

Mr. Morris was followed by Messrs. Patterson of N. H., Ross of Ill., and Newell of N. J., who made speeches of considerable length.

Adjourned.

MEMPHIS RIOTS.—Testimony of an "Ex-Confederate Officer." A correspondent of the Memphis Daily Post, who signs himself an "Ex-Confederate Officer," makes the following statements relative to the riots:

I, too, can testify that there was no premeditated outbreak among the colored people of this city. The feud, as stated, was entirely between the police, Irish and a few negro soldiers—caused, undoubtedly, by the inhuman and brutal treatment of the police, upon negroes whenever they had cause to arrest one. I myself have seen a gang of police arrest a negro for some trivial offense, and instead of quietly marching him off to the station house, first fall upon him with their clubs and beat him senseless, and then throw him upon a dray and haul him off. The fact cannot be denied that the police led the mob, and they were backed up by drunken Irish. Most of the negroes killed were quietly disposed. They were fired upon in yards, and even houses of citizens were entered and negroes dragged out and shot down while begging for their lives. I saw an Irishman kick the body of a wounded, dying negro, and then shoot him in the breast again. "Brave man was he." Such men, during the late war, made good guerillas—not brave enough to go to the front, but skulked in the bush to shoot friend or foe, and then rob the corpse. I cannot use language strong enough to denounce such brutality, and I think it is high time for every good citizen to speak out no matter what his politics or sentiments may be.

The Post, attributing the cause of the riots to the bitterness of the Avalanche, says:

That the Avalanche has, during its existence, done an immense and almost irreparable injury to our city, by stirring up bitter, vindictive hatred against the freedmen, and against all Union people who reside here, no one will dare deny. That it stimulated, and almost in fact brought into being here, the malignant feeling which culminated in the barbarous massacre of last week, no one will doubt, who has read its columns during the past three months.

LOCAL AND OTHER ITEMS.

ANOTHER INCENDIARY ARRESTED. On Friday officer Walker arrested a boy by the name of John Sullivan for setting fire on Wednesday last to the dwelling house of Thomas G. Vantassel, opposite the Bangor House. On being arraigned before the Police Court, the boy, who gives his age at 12 years, pleaded guilty. He also confessed to the Court that he, with another person, was present when John Wyman's stable was set on fire. He was ordered to give bonds in the sum of $7000. He was committed.

CHEAP PICTURES. A. B. Farrar, in Smith's Block, is taking pictures at the extremely low price of twenty-five cents per dozen. It is worth while to call and see what kind of pictures can be afforded at such a price.

REAL ESTATE. We understand that the dwelling-house of P. P. Pearson, Esq., on Ohio street, has been sold at private sale to Lysander Strickland, Esq., for $5000.

Messrs. Wheeler & Lynde:

Wishing to correct your statement made in Wednesday's paper, in reference to the fire in Molunes, I write to inform you of the facts.

It was not the Molunes House that was consumed by fire. That is situated 6½ miles below here. It was the hotel owned by Hugh Read, and called the Molunes Exchange. A portion of the furniture was saved, but in a damaged condition. $600 would not cover the loss; but by the great exertions of our own family, and that of a neighbor, Mr. Martin, and two men that came along, the stable was saved. The stage got here when the buildings were partly consumed, and the driver, Mr. H. Forbes, and his two male passengers, and one young lady, were faithful helpers in our time of need, and we wish to tender them our sincere and heartfelt thanks. Please correct this and give it a place in your paper, and oblige A. R. MAYO.

We published the former account as given to us.

LOOK OUT FOR THEM. We understand certain pedlars of cloths, &c., are perambulating in this vicinity, dressed in seamen's clothes, hinting on the sly that the reason they can sell so very cheap is that their goods have been smuggled. We trust nobody will be tempted into dishonestly purchasing of these dealers. If they do, they will probably pay all the goods are worth—for we understand they have a full license to sell, and the smuggling story is only a humbug to deceive green customers.

FROST AND CATERPILLARS. The Machias Republican speaks of "frost and ice" in that region on Monday of last week. We had a slight touch of frost here last week, but not enough, we think, to seriously injure the fruit buds. The infant caterpillars have been more "nipping" than the frost thus far. The little scamps, less than an eighth of an inch long, would bury themselves by dozens in a single bud. Many persons, however, were wise enough to clear their trees of eggs in the fall, winter or early spring.—To all such fruit shall be given.

—The Oxford Democrat relates how G. H. Brown, Esq., who was so lucky as to escape with a whole skin from the smash-up on the Grand Trunk a short time since, had another escape Tuesday. While riding in his gig one trace unhooked, letting the shafts fall into the sand and pitching him one side.—The horse, still attached by one trace to the gig, in starting threw it upon his back and at the same time was cast, and the whole establishment rolled down the bank. The horse and driver came out in good condition.

—Bishop Burgess, whose death at sea was recently noticed, was a native of Providence, R. I., and a graduate of Brown University of the class of 1826. After acting as Tutor in that institution for some time, and completing his theological studies, he accepted the rectorship of Christ Church, Hartford, where he remained till he was elected Bishop of the Diocese of Maine. He was consecrated Oct. 31, 1847, and at the same time assumed the rectorship of a church at Gardiner.

—"Molly Molasses", a native American, is hale and hearty, and 102 years. She lives happily in the city of Bangor.—[Portland Star.

The Star knows more than Molly does.—She was an "old squaw" fifty years ago. Nobody knows her age within a dozen years, more or less.

—The Pioneer states that between eight and ten million shingles have been bought during the winter and spring and sent to market by the Presque Isle traders. The same paper also says that the lumbermen's "drives" in the river there are stopped for want of water. The water has receded very rapidly since the great freshet a week or two since.

—We learn from the Age that the steward of the ship Western Chief, now lying at Belfast, accidentally fell from the poop to the main deck on Wednesday night, and fractured his skull. He shipped in New York a few days ago, and his name was unknown.

—The Star speaks of a rumor that the Eastern Queen is to be withdrawn from the Boston route and put on to the Bangor and Portland route in opposition to the Regulator and Lady Lang. There are quite as many boats now on that route as are needed.

—The Belfast Age says the fishing schooner Nevada of North Haven returned to port last week with the loss of her skipper, Capt. W. Wooster, and his brother, Frederick Wooster, who were drowned on the Eastern Banks the week previous.

—The senior class of the State Normal School at Farmington will graduate on the 25th inst. This is the first graduating class.

This is a substantial company, we are told, and their article, coming recommended as it is, will be of incalculable benefit to the public.

TELEGRAPHIC FEAT. The Press says, it will be remembered that a week or two since several of the telegraphic operators of the American line had a trial of skill in sending 250 words over the wire, the prize to be a golden key. The prize was awarded to Kettles, in the Fall River office.

Gentry, of the New York office, challenged Kettles for the championship and the prize key, and the contest came off last evening. It was to send 500 words over the wires. Gentry did the job in 13 minutes, 51 seconds; Kettles did it in 12 minutes, 18 seconds—beating his challenger by one minute and thirty-eight seconds, and maintaining the championship.

Bill for the Equalization of Bounties.

A special despatch to The Boston Journal reads as follows:—

WASHINGTON, May 18.

Messrs. Schenck of Ohio, and Blaine of Maine, this morning on the Military Committee, reported the bill for the equalization of bounties. The committee approved it, and Gen. Schenck has just reported it to the House and moved its reference to the committee of the whole.

Sec. 1. That instead of any grant of land or other bounty, there shall be allowed and paid to each and every soldier, sailor and marine who faithfully served as such in the army, navy and marine corps of the United States, and who has been or who may hereafter be honorably discharged from such service, the sum of eight and one-third dollars per month or at the of $100 per year, as hereinafter provided for all the time during which such soldiers, sailor or marine actually served between the 12th of April 1861, and the — of April, 1865. And in the case of any such soldier, sailor or marine discharged from the service on account of wounds received in battle or while engaged in the line of his duty, the said allowance of bounty shall be computed and paid up to the end of the term of service for which his enlistment was made, and in case of the death of any such soldier, sailor or marine while in the service or before the end of his term of enlistment, if discharged on account of being wounded as before provided, the allowances and payment shall be made to his widow, or if there be no widow, then to the minor children of the deceased.

Sect. 2. That in computing and ascertaining the bouty to be paid to any soldier, sailor or marine, or his representative, under the provisions of this act, there shall be deducted from any and all bounties already paid or payable under existing laws by the United States, so that in no case shall the aggregate amount of bounty allowed and paid exceed 81 dollars for each month of actual faithful service or at the rate of one hundred dollars per year, and in the case of any sailor or marine to whom prize money has been paid or is payable, the amount of such prize money shall also be deducted, and only such amount of bounty as shall, together with such prize money and any other bounty paid or payable by the United States, amount in the aggregate to the sum allowed by this act.

Sec. 3. And be it further enacted, that whenever application shall be made by any claimant through an attorney, the claimant shall furnish his post office address, giving the name of the county and State in which it is situated, and the amount of commission or fees which the attorney is to receive for his services or the settlement of the claim, which charges in no case shall exceed the sum of five dollars.

UNION CONVENTION. Alexandria, Va., May 18. At the Union Convention to-day, J. M. Botts presiding, a permanent organization was effected. A committee reported a series of resolutions respecting the difference of opinion as to the mode of re-establishing civil and political rights, and say—"We will do all we can to bring about the mutual wish of the President and Congress, by instituting State action in favor of impartial, qualified suffrage, which in our opinion is one of the main requisites of republican government; that the only sure protection for all classes, is in representation in elections; that the doctrine of the right of secession was at issue in the late war, and ought to be provided against in future reconstruction; that the late rebels, while they affect to accept the situation, are still unchanged in their opinions, and hope to accomplish by votes what they failed to do with bayonets; that the Chairman of the Convention appoint a committee to visit the President to consult his views and secure the endorsement of Congress; that free institutions are best maintained by education—therefore we favor the system of free schools for universal education."

It is stated that in debate, the conclusion reached was, that the true policy of the Union men South, would be to avail themselves of the negro element and put the two races on the same footing as to suffrage.

The majority of the committee stood by the action of Congress, but declined to pin faith to the coat-tails of any sect.

A substitute was offered prohibiting any person from holding Federal or State office who could not swear that he was now, and always had been, an enemy of the confederacy and rebellion.

The resolutions were adopted. Mr Botts' plan of reconstruction was endorsed, and the Convention adjourned sine die.

The Episcopal Council has resolved to resume its relation with the General Convention of the Episcopal Church of the United States.

A SINGULAR PARDON. In February last Zeno Burnham, a noted mock auctioneer in New York, a man who has made an enormous fortune by the most profitable kind of swindling in the whole catalogue of crime, was indicted and tried on a charge of having defrauded a lady out of about a thousand dollars. He had been indicted repeatedly before, and had escaped through legal loopholes, and this time he was so confident that his offence was not covered by the statute that he refused to purchase his safety by restoring any portion of the amount of his plunder. He was convicted, however, and sentenced to the State Prison for two years and six months. Immediately on arriving at Sing Sing, Burnham was suddenly attacked with something which he called pulmonary consumption; he was placed in the hospital of the prison; a great "pressure," backed by innumerable affidavits and certificates, has been brought to bear upon Gov. Fenton; and as a result, the criminal has been pardoned and is now in New York, apparently quite as robust as before his incarceration.

Neither the judge nor the district attorney concerned in his trial were consulted about his release, and the latter first heard of it through the lady whom Burnham had swindled, who informed him that since the release of the criminal she had received the sum of which she had been defrauded in return for her signature to a paper ostensibly "to relieve Governor Fenton from any blame in the granting of the pardon." The auctioneer has friends who boast that $12,000 were spent in securing his release. Burnham is the proprietor of several mock auction establishments in New York, which have been busy as usual during his confinement, weekly reports being made to him at Sing Sing.—[Boston Traveller.

THE CHOLERA SHIP ENGLAND—Unexpected Revelations. The sinking of many barrels of 'rinderpest' beef by the officers of the cholera ship England, in order to avoid a detection of its real character by the health officers at the New York quarantine, is asserted by many of the passengers who have escaped alive from that floating pest-house and arrived at Middleton, Ct. These emigrants assert that they were fed on this diseased beef; that it, in their opinion, occasioned the cholera which swept off so many of her unfortunate passengers.

HELEN GRAY

BY CHRISTINA G. ROSSETTI.

Because one loves you, Helen Grey,
  Is that a reason you should pout,
  And like a March wind veer about,
And frown, and say your shrewish say?
Don't strain the cord until it snaps,
  Don't split the sound heart with your wedge,
  Don't cut your fingers with the edge
Of your keen wit: you may, perhaps.

Because you're handsome, Helen Grey,
  Is that a reason to be proud?
  Your eyes are bold, your laugh is loud,
Your steps go mincing on their way;
But so you miss that modest charm
  Which is the surest charm of all:
  Take heed, you may yet trip and fall,
And no man care to stretch his arm.

Stoop from your cold height, Helen Grey,
  Come down, and take a lowlier place;
  Come down, to fill it now with grace;
Come down you must perforce some day;
For years cannot be kept at bay,
  And fading years will make you old;
  Then in your turn will men seem cold,
When you yourself are nipped and gray.

A Wife's Devotion.

We copy from "Hours at Home" the following interesting narrative, by an English missionary to the cannibals of New Zealand:

After crossing Big Muddy creek, (the creek on the banks of which we had encamped) with no small difficulty on account of its muddy bottom and great width, being nearly a mile across, we arrived toward nightfall on the next day at another creek called Little Muddy creek. Here we found living in a log hut a white man, old and grey-headed, with his wife, a native and old like himself, but O, how frightfully hideous and ugly! All her flesh seemed to have dried up, and her wrinkled skin hung in loose folds about her person; her face was all disfigured with lines of tattooing, and her eyes all bloodshot and bleared with the long effects of the pood fires she had cooked over. She gave us, however, an excellent supper. Leonard and I went out to smoke our pipes.

'Leonard' I exclaimed, 'did you ever see a more hideous creature than that woman is? Preserve me from native women if she be a specimen of Mosai beauty.'

'Ah, sir!' said a thin, quivering voice I recognized as her husband's, 'she may be ugly in your eyes, but she is not in mine. It is now well-nigh thirty years since I ran away from a whale-ship, and took to living here among the savages, for I warrant you they were savage enough then. I helped to build for the chief of the tribe I came among, a boat, and he gave me the woman as a reward for my services. She was good looking then, and she helped me build a house, and planted my potatoes, and caught my fish, cooked my food, and was a faithful and true wife to me. Some years afterwards I fell ill. The native tonungas, or doctors, tried their hands at curing me, and it was not for want of nursing on her part that I did not get well; howsoever I got worse instead of better, and Harh, my wife, began to tangi (fret) for me. One day she heard from some of her friends who had just returned from Auckland, the chief English settlement, that there was a pakaha (a white man) there who could cure me; and the next day she started to see him in her canoe, but she had well-nigh twenty miles to walk as well, before she got there. The third day she came back, her sister having nursed me meanwhile, and brought me some medicine; it did me some good but could not cure me. She told me the doctor wanted to see me, but could not or would not come out to me. After a week's trial of the stuff he had sent me, and my being no great deal better, she determined to take me to him and so she put me in her canoe, and then carried me the twenty miles on her back—ay I tell ye, every foot of the way; and I was there well-nigh two months in a little hut she built for me herself, outside the town; and every week she went backward and forward between here and there laden with the week's provisions. At length I got well and came back with her home; and ever since then she has been, ay, and is now, beautiful in my eyes; letting alone she has twice saved my life from the niggers of the Ngatiwais, and once from drowning. I would like to know,' said he, 'what white woman would have done the like; and I tell ye I believe God Almighty will give her a place in heaven, ugly and dark though she be, and half heathen as you would call her.'

I found afterwards that the man's tale was true, and must confess this narrative of his softened very much her bodily infirmities and appearance in my eyes.

NECK-TWISTING IN CHURCH. A good story is told of an eccentric old parson who was sorely annoyed by a habit his people had acquired (and which prevails, by-the-way in all other churches, even now, to some extent) of twisting their necks around every time anybody entered the door and passed up the isle of the meeting house, to see what manner of person it might be.

Wearied with the annoyance, the old man exclaimed, one Sunday:

'Brethren, if you will only cease turning your heads round, whenever the door opens, and will keep your attention on me, I will promise to tell you, as I preach, who it is that comes in.'

Accordingly he went on with the services, and presently made a stop as one of the deacons entered, saying:

"That is Deacon ——, who keeps the grocery opposite."

And thus he announced, in turn, the advent of each individual, proceeding the while with his sermon as composedly as the circumstances would admit, when at last a stranger came in, when he cried out—

"A little old man in green spectacles, and a drab overcoat—don't know him—you can all turn round and look for yourselves this time."

It is hardly necessary to add that the good man carried his point, and there was little neck-twisting seen in his congregation after that day.

THE LOVING KINDNESS OF GOD. The loving kindness of God! what a beautiful expression! How rich and consoling the thought containied in it! It is not mere good will, nor mere complacent friendship nor the mere neighborly kindness of human beings, although these are of high and precious account; it is the good will, the friendship, the kindness of love—of the love of God, who is love itself. We know something of the loving kindness of father and mother. We have been gently tended and nursed by this kindness; or, parents ourselves, we know full well the throbbing of parental affection. Deep, earnest, self-sacrificing, is human love in many tender relations. We trust in it fervently and without fear. O! if there were no human love in which we could trust, what a desolate place would this world be? But the loving kindness of God, of that great incomprehensible Being who fills the universe with his presence, and before whose majesty the pillars of heaven tremble—what a loving kindness that must be! the kindness of infinite love wedded with infinite power! There is nothing that love can conceive of, or wish to do for its object, but is contained here, and rendered not only possible, but absolutely certain.

A SEVERE TASK. The late Judge P—— of Connecticut was not remarkable for quickness of apprehension. At a certain time, Hon. R. W. Sherman was arguing a case before him, and, in the course of his argument, Mr. S. made a point which the Judge did not at once see; "Mr. Sherman, I would thank you to state the point so that I can understand you." Bowing politely, Mr. S. replied in his blandest manner,—"Your honor is probably not aware of the task you are imposing upon me."

THE UNDERSIGNED BEG LEAVE TO INform the public that they have formed a Copartnership for the purpose of carrying on business in

Ship Stores, Chandlery,

GROCERIES & PROVISIONS,

And have taken Store No. 4 City Point Block, where they intend keeping a full stock of all articles used in their line.

We have now in store, and are constantly receiving, a complete assortment of the above named goods, all of which have just been purchased since the late great decline in prices, and consequently we feel justified in saying we can afford to sell as LOW AS THE LOWEST.

We shall be pleased to have all our friends and the public generally, give us a call, and see if they cannot do a little better with us than elsewhere.

We keep none but first class articles, and guarantee every thing to be as good as represented.

MR. FOSTER has been with J. C. HOLMES for the past two years, and being thoroughly acquainted with the business and its requirements, feels confident of satisfying any and all who may favor him with their patronage. WHITE & FOSTER.

Referring to the annual statement of the Company and the dividend of $2,975,000 declared February 1, 1866, we present herewith some illustrations of the system by which it was allotted to policy holders.

The Company recognizes the principle that AMPLE SECURITY is a paramount consideration in Life Insurance, and neither in form or amount will any dividend be declared incompatible with that principle.

In addition to the proper reserve for re-insurance of outstanding risks, there still remains an undivided surplus of $1,200,000

DIVIDENDS will be declared annually hereafter, and may be used either to purchase more insurance, in reduction of premiums, or on "paid up" policies, they may be drawn in CASH on the date of each policy in any year.

EXAMPLES,

Showing the Annually Increasing Dividends in this Company on Life Policies of $10,000 each, other amounts in same proportion.

*The annual dividends on these policies exceed the annual premiums So that a policy holder, by applying his dividends to the payment of future premiums, not only avoids all further outlay, but his policy annually increases in amount.

The dividends on policies of a more recent date, including those issued last year, may be applied in like manner to the full extent of their accumulations.

Insurers who do not thus apply their dividends, have the full benefit of the large additions to their policies, as shown in the above table, and may, at any future period use such portions of their dividends in the payment of any one or more premiums, as they may desire.

☞ It will be noticed as a peculiarity of our system, that while the dividends are moderate at the beginning, as all dividends must be which are declared upon just and equitable principles, yet they rapidly increase each year as the policy grows older, so that eventually the insurance becomes paid up in full.

Endowment Policies,

Payable either at death or to the persons insured, on their arriving at specified ages.

This favorite form of insurance or investment is of a more recent date, and the following examples will suffice to show their results thus far in the MUTUAL LIFE:

No. of Policy.	When issued.	Age at Issue.	Amnt	Term.	Premium	Prem. how paid.	Total Premium.	Dividend	Amon't paid.
19,949	Mar. 11, 1858	42	$5000	Pay at 50	$422 87	A.	$4,982 26	$1,602 59	$6602 59
17,826	Jan. 14, 1857	51	5000	" 60	263 41	S. A.	4,987 97	1,637 01	6634 01
18,905	July 1, "	47	2000	" 55	129 09	S. A.	2,065 44	662 80	2662 80

All of the above policies have been paid to the owners, and it will be seen that they receive a SURPLUS above all they have paid to the Company, with compound interest at six per cent., and no charge whatever for expenses or cost of insurance meanwhile.

NICHOLS HOUSE.

The undersigned having leased, for a long term, and thoroughly renovated and refitted the NICHOLS HOUSE (late "Dwinel House" in Bangor, has this day re-opened the same to the public accommodation.

This Hotel is centrally located, and in close proximity with the Boats and Cars.

The Proprietor has had a long experience in the "Parker House," of East Corinth, and the "Shaw House," of Newport, and flatters himself that to all patrons he will furnish an agreeable and comfortable home. Every effort and expense will be used, to make this House as popular and attractive as any in this section of the State. Having lately purchased the large and enterprising

Livery Establishment

Lately owned by CALEB BILLINGS, Esq., the same will be carried on in all its departments in connection with said Hotel. The undersigned will be ready to furnish teams of all descriptions, and will extend all accommodations to those who may favor him with their calls.

☞ Coaches in readiness for any business at all hours.

Stages leave this House daily for all parts of the country.

☞ Orders may be left at the House, or at the Stable office, where a reliable man will hereafter be found to attend upon the wants of customers.

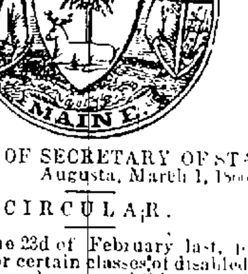
STATE OF MAINE.



OFFICE OF SECRETARY OF STATE,
Augusta, March 1, 1866.

CIRCULAR.

THE Act of the 23d of February last, providing pensions for certain classes of disabled soldiers and the widows and minor children of those deceased) of the War of 1861, will necessarily impose upon the State Department duties somewhat analagous to these of the Pension Bureau at Washington, though of a comparatively limited character. Considerable time will therefore be required by the Council, in whom is vested the supervision of this new department of business, in determining the mode of procedure and preparing the requisite blanks therefor.

Early in the ensuing May session of that Honorable body, forms and regulations, with a copy of the law, will be promulgated.

Applicants under this statute, who are, or may be, in the receipt of a pension from the United States Government, will not require the assistance of agents or attorneys in preparing or presenting their claims for the State pension.

AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all papers or drawings for Patents, executed on reasonable terms, with dispatch. Researches made into American and Foreign works, to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

During eight months the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS; every one of which was decided in his favor by the Commissioner of Patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHAS. MASON."
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they can not employ a man more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE."
Late Commissioner of Patents.

"Mr. R. H. EDDY has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.
